BIG FISH AT BUCKROE CAUGHT BY RICHMONDER

Bonito Weighing 82 1/2 Pounds Flashed In at the Pier Just in Front of the Hotel.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
BUCKROE BEACH HOTEL, BUCKROE BEACH, VA., August 21.—Those who elect to spend their vacation at Buckroe Beach have almost that experience attributed by the creator of the place, Mr. W. H. Fitzhugh, to one talking to her neighbor over the fence—the double sensation of "being at home and going fishing at the same time"—for although the "back-to-nature" life is the orthodox one here, still a few minutes' trolley ride puts the visitor in the very midst of things. The army post and the harbor delights at Old Point, the national institutions at Hampton and the far-famed shipyard of Newport News are visited with zest and much pleasure by all the newcomers, while even those who are keeping that social fast modernly known as the "rest cure" allow themselves one weekly plunge into high society at the Chamberlin Saturday night hop. That of last week was more than usually brilliant; the officers, from the battleships, which had come in for the weekend, in their dinner uniforms; the post representatives, whose military air proclaimed them; the handsome women from the towns on the Roads, together with the many attractive visiting girls, making a very gay and charming scene.

Those who composed the party from Buckroe on this occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Preston Roper, of Petersburg; Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Blackford, of Norfolk; Mrs. Rutherford Lane, of Orange, N. J.; and Mrs. Charles Janin, of Nashville, who chaperoned the younger set from here, who were in evidence on the ballroom floor, and were as follows: Miss Mary Roper, Miss Cecile Janin, Miss Lela Willis, of Richmond; Miss Charlie, of Charleston; Miss Beverly Lee, of Rutherford Lane.

Coterie from Richmond.
An attractive coterie of Richmonders, guests at the Chamberlin, noticed at the hop, were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Parrish, en route home from the grand dian trip; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Reed, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Mack Langford, of Norfolk, the last named until recently a Richmond girl.

Nothing, however, usurps the place of bridge. It has evidently come to stay, and perhaps will go down into history as another characteristic of the eternal feminine. A very pleasant morning game, complimentary to the bridge players here, was played in the hotel parlor on Tuesday morning. The guests of the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Roper, Mrs. Rutherford Lane, of Orange, N. J.; Mrs. J. V. Blackford, of Norfolk; Mrs. Charles Janin, of Nashville; Mrs. Preston Roper, of Petersburg; Mr. W. H. Parrish, of Norfolk; Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Blackford, of Norfolk; Mr. and Mrs. Mack Langford, of Norfolk, the last named until recently a Richmond girl.

The masculine contingent, however, who, perhaps, understand better than the feminine what real zest is, spend the days on the water, thoroughly enjoying the splendid fishing which the bay affords. W. S. McCoy, of Richmond, is one of the most successful fishermen of the season. His finest catch was on Wednesday morning, when he brought in a bonito weighing eighty-two and a half pounds—the largest fish ever caught at Buckroe. This magnificent fish was caught from the pier just in front of the hotel, and created such enthusiasm that it was photographed in order to encourage future anglers.

John Britting, of Cincinnati, is also an enthusiastic and lucky fisherman, who comes every season to Buckroe. This year he is accompanied by Mrs. Britting and their son, John Britting, Jr. Graham Smithwick, Fred Smithwick and Lewis Bourne, of Memphis, can also claim to be "fishermen of luck," bringing in a string of 150, the result of a few hours' catch.

August Popular.
Although, according to the calendar, summer is on the wane, the hotel and cottages are still being busily patronized, and August is the most popular month with inland and Western guests.

Among the arrivals this week are A. N. Meale, wife and daughter, Berkeley, Cal.; Guy A. Howard, New York City; Mrs. N. W. Muller and son, Baltimore, Md.; Miss Marie Martin, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Miss M. K. Chisman, Hampton; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Brauer, Jr.; T. W. Curtis, of The Times-Dispatch; Mrs. Curtis, Miss Mary Curtis, Miss Cunningham and Miss Lulu Brown, of Richmond, Va.

GOLF RECORD BROKEN AT THE WARM SPRINGS

Rev. Dr. Webb, of Louisville, Kentucky, makes the course in thirty strokes—Cora-Roose.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
WARM SPRINGS, VA., August 21.—Golf has found more followers during the past week at the Warm than at any time during the season. The course is well filled, morning and evening, by enthusiastic men and women, who take every opportunity to tear up the turf and hot-foot the caddy. Foursomes are regularly gotten up, and very close scores make the game interesting.

During the past week, perhaps the most exciting thing to happen at the Warm was the breaking of the record on the golf course by Rev. Dr. Webb, of Louisville, Ky. The record which he broke was made in 1905 by a professional, being thirty-one strokes for the nine holes. Last week Dr. Webb broke this by making the course in thirty well-delivered strokes, thus establishing a new and very fine record.

Among these now frequently seen on the grounds are Mr. Palmer and Y. Waddy, of Richmond; Mr. Hughes, of Charleston; Mr. Robert B. Tunstall and sons, Robert and Cuthbert, of Norfolk; W. H. Fitzhugh, of Vicksburg, Miss; Dr. and Mrs. Webb, Louisville, Ky.; E. M. Morris, New York; Miss Duncan, Macon, Ga.; Miss Widmer, New York; Mrs. Smith, Norfolk, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Newcomb, Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Gress, Winchester, N. Y.; Captain George Norton and Mr. Chester Norton, of Gainesville, Ky.; and Miss Alexander, of Gainesville, Ky.

Cora-Roose.
Sevier Bonner, a member of a number of his friends in a delightful and novel way on the night of August 12. He took them up to Flag Rock for a corn-roast. On arriving at the top of the mountain, the men collected great armfuls of wood and in less than no time a roaring fire was built. Around this every one gathered, forming a large circle, and after sticking the freshly picked corn on long, pointed sticks, roasted them over the glowing coals.

It all made a fantastic picture, while laughter and song rang through the mountain ravines.

Among those in the party were Mrs. Shelby Bonner, chaperon; Miss Mattie S. Bonner, Miss Sara Gibson, Miss Louise Gibson, Miss Tracey Duncan, Miss Gertrude Widmer, Sevier Bonner, host; Robert Bonner, Blackburn Hughes, A. T. Waddy, Chester Norton, Charles Davis, W. Johnson, Cuthbert Tunstall, H. S. Woodward and Dr. C. Sappington.

Champagne Party.
Norman James, of Baltimore, entertained in honor of Miss Sara Gibson at a champagne party last week. Among those in the party were Norman James, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. M. Gibson, Miss Josephine Davis, Mrs. William J. Elliott, Miss Nora Davis, Miss Charlotte Hallie, Miss Wilkins, Miss Constance Stephenson, Miss Gertrude Widmer, Miss Duncan, Misses Sara and Louise Gibson, Charles B. Davis, Robert Bonner, Mr. Hughes, A. Y. Waddy, C. Norton, John Stephenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson dined with Mrs. Tilghman, of Philadelphia, who is staying at the Hot Springs, on last Sunday.

It is a great pleasure to all the guests at the Warm to have as a visitor the Right Rev. Beverly D. Tucker, of Lynchburg, Va.

New arrivals include Robert B. Tunstall, Norfolk, Va.; Van Leer Willis, and Mrs. Willis, St. Louis, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Scott and Miss Scott, of Hot Springs; F. G. Ross, Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. John E. Churchill, Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Fredericks W. Hubb, Cincinnati; W. H. Fitzhugh and Benjamin T. Fitzhugh, Vicksburg, Miss.; Mrs. Alfred Trotter, Mrs. C. Wood, New York City; Mrs. D. Wulfin, Mrs. S. C. Gaulb, Cincinnati; G. A. Danell, Virginia; Robert P. Bonner, Mrs. W. Bonner, Chester, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Campbell, Richmond; Mrs. Gibson, Norman James, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. W. E. Grant, Richmond; George O. Wentworth, Chicago; Miss Margaret Rose, Cincinnati; O. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Battle and daughter, North Carolina; Mrs. William J. Elliott, Philadelphia; Miss Davis, Washington, D. C.; Robert B. Tunstall, Norfolk, Va.; E. M. Morris, New York; A. H. Rassfeld and wife, St. Louis, Mo.; R. A. Thornton, Lexington, Ky.; Richard F. H. Doherty, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Arthur Langham, Mr. J. H. Woodward, Mrs. J. H. Woodward, Louisville, Ky.

AT THE NATURAL BRIDGE SUMMER HAS RETURNED

Rosebud Garden of Girls Most Attractive—Georgin Good Roads Purse for Pedestrians—Fine Concert.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
NATURAL BRIDGE, VA., August 21.—After a few cold days, which made a fire of blazing logs most comforting and cheerful, summer has once more returned, and with it those dainty, delicate, lingerie frocks for which Southern women are famous, and which so adorn the ballroom each evening, suggesting a night of gay butlers. Our rosebud garden of girls just now is most attractive, and many a bull will tell in days to come of her debut at Natural Bridge.

The Saturday evening cotillion was led by J. C. B. Spencer, of Williamsburg, assisted by Cecil Stevens, of Richmond, and was, as usual, a delightful affair. The Tuesday and Saturday full dress evenings are most popular, and parties of young people from Roanoke, Lynchburg and the surrounding resorts come over to these gatherings in full force.

On Sunday evening we had a concert, which might be termed "a feast of music," as all the performers were of unusual ability and culture. James W. Bramwell, of St. Mark's choir, Philadelphia, with his magnificent baritone, rendered Kipling's "Recessional" splendidly; Mrs. Joseph Finckel, of Washington, sang Gounod's "Ave Maria" with violin obligato, by Professor Robert Crawford, of Williamsburg, with his wonderful tenor, simply charmed the hours away.

Goods Road, in Georgia.
Georgia is showing herself one of the most progressive States in the South, and feels the importance of the good roads movement, as the best possible help to showing the world at large our vast resources.

The latest wager she has offered is a purse to pedestrians covering the 1,000 miles between Atlanta and New York in forty days.

Joseph E. Singleton, of Australia, and C. W. Minto, of Atlanta, have reached Natural Bridge from Atlanta in good shape, and expect to cover the rest of the distance easily within the given time.

Miss M. Louise Evans, of Warrenton, an extremely versatile young woman, gave a very interesting recital a few evenings since from "Mrs. Wiggle of the Cabbage Patch."

Saturday evening after the ball was over C. H. Paxton gave his young friends a watermelon feast, which, no doubt, was more enjoyed than many an epicurean feast, as after all it is the appetite which gives zest to the banquet of whatever variety.

Bowling and Riding.
A number of bowling parties have been given this week. Mrs. McCarthy, of Washington, D. C.; Miss and Mr. Hughes and Miss Bussey, of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Sackett, of Lynchburg; Mrs. and Miss Giffardeau, of Savannah; and Dr. Jenkins, of Martinsburg, running closely for highest score.

Horseback riding was never more popular, and gay cavalcades are starting off at all hours of the day.

Several of the guests have brought their automobiles with them, and expeditions to the neighboring towns and resorts are much enjoyed, as with the vast improvement of our country roads we are getting nearer to our neighbors every day.

Party from Hot Springs.
A very interesting party coming over from Hot Springs consisted of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Taliaferro, Miss C. B. Taliaferro, Miss F. F. Flinn, Charles H. Gibbons, C. H. Hurt, Miss Stone, Miss B. J. Stone and George S. Whitner.

Mrs. T. D. Champlain, of Washington, D. C., who has lived so many years in the Orient, is one of our most delightful summer guests. After traveling the wide world over she finds nothing more beautiful or natural than this miracle of nature—the Natural Bridge. Just now there are registered here from Richmond W. D. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Marcuse, Frank Delaney, Mrs. Coleman Wortham, Mrs. Mary Wortham.

Registered this week from Richmond are Dabney L. Lancaster, Mrs. Moses May, Miss Agnes Columbia May, Miss Hannah C. May, Miss Jessie Waller, Miss Maude Colman, Miss Minnie Schwickert, E. Lee Roden, Edwin Roden, Douglas Roden, Mrs. D. E. Taylor, Miss K. A. Williams, John J. Gravatt, Jr., Charles S. McVeigh, E. V. Acker and O. B. Bass and wife.

At the Yellow Sulphur.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
YELLOW SULPHUR SPRINGS, VA., August 21.—Many and varied have been the entertainments at the Yellow Sulphur lately, and the arrivals have equalled the departures in point of numbers, a very unusual thing this late in the season. Among those coming in are Dr. and Mrs. Charles Huff Davis, of Knoxville, Tenn.; the well known in this part of Virginia as Miss Hortense Burton; Misses Katherine Brothers and Emma King, two very attractive young ladies from Suffolk; Miss Carrie Kyle, of Farmville, and Miss Bessie Carter, of Danville.

The week had a pleasant beginning in the birthday party given by Mrs. Southgate Taylor for her friend, Miss Jennie Day Proudfoot, of Memphis. Thirty guests were present.

The following morning Mrs. Taylor and Miss Proudfoot entertained at a bridge party, twelve tables being engaged in the popular game. The prizes, artistically mounted pictures, were given to Miss Rosalie Milnes, of Richmond; Miss Brothers, of Suffolk; and Mrs. J. H. Ketner, of Norfolk.

The president of the D. D. Club Mrs. Jane McConnell, of Pocahontas, gave the members of the club and their friends among the young men a banquet in the main dining-room of the hotel Saturday evening. The chaperons were Mrs. Cameron Trotter, of Charlottesville; and Mrs. C. M. Galway, of Pocahontas.

Dr. A. G. Wardlaw, of Union, S. C., a prominent divine of the Presbyterian Church and guest here this summer, preached to a large audience in the ballroom Sunday morning.

Tracy, of Danville, sang a solo, "O Divine Redeemer," during the service.

Mrs. Charles Warren, of Bacon's Castle, was hostess at a large bridge party Monday morning. The first prize, a handpainted medal, fell to Mrs. Charles H. Doherty, of Knoxville, and the first honor prize, a handsome pair of silk hose, to Mrs. Aubrey Young, of Richmond.

At the same hour on Monday, Mrs. McConnell entertained the younger set at a bowling party, the ladies' prize going to Mrs. G. Peed, of Norfolk, and the honors for the men to Walter Simmons, of Richmond.

Mrs. W. L. Lamberdin and Mrs. J. H. Ketner, of Norfolk, were the chaperons for a very jolly hay-ride Monday evening, the trip to Blacksburg in a four-horse wagon.

The entertainment given every summer by the walters came off in the ballroom last night. This consisted of a potato race, the singing of plantation melodies, a cake-walk and a plecting contest.

Some of the late arrivals are Mrs. Creston Brothers, Miss Brothers, Miss Emma King, Suffolk; Misses Sara and Mary Butler, St. Francisville, La.; Miss Helen Thomas, Mrs. W. H. Pendleton, Harry B. Finch, Norfolk; Miss Mary K. Stone, Roanoke; Misses Carrie and Lottie Worrell, Lynchburg; W. H. Kim, Churchland; P. T. Jamison, G. M. Pilzer, Roanoke.

PROMINENT VIRGINIANS STILL THROUG THE HOT

Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth conspicuous among the guests at the Homestead Hotel.

HOT SPRINGS, August 21.—The influx of prominent Virginians who commenced with the assembling of the members of the Bar Association and their families and friends, still continues. Many of those who came to the Homestead for the association meeting remained over the weekend for the round of luncheons, dinners and dances given for the younger set.

Miss Betty Cooke and Miss Betty Booker are house guests of Seth Barton French, at Barton Lodge, on the mountain side.

Major and Mrs. McCalhoun Woods, of Charlottesville, the former the president of the association, remained until Monday morning, and were guests, with the members of their party, at a continual round of dinners, luncheons and teas.

Miss Woods and Robert H. Woods, U. S. N., of Annapolis, and the Misses Minnie Shackelford and Annie Walpole, were in the Woods party, which also included Mr. Caves.

Dinner and Music.

Mr. and Mrs. McViville E. Ingalls, who were joined on Wednesday morning by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ingalls and their family, who arrived from New York in a private car, entertained a dinner company on Saturday evening in compliment to Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth. An informal musicale followed, when Mr. Longworth appeared as a violin soloist.

Representative and Mrs. Longworth were dinner hosts on Tuesday evening at the Homestead Hotel, in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. William Corcoran Eustis.

Mr. and Mrs. George Guntton entertained at a handsomely appointed dinner at Guntton Lodge on Saturday evening in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Patterson of Washington and New York. William B. Lowe, of New York, has joined Mrs. Lowe and his mother, Mrs. George Guntton, at Guntton Lodge for the remainder of the month.

Seth Barton French was a dinner host at Barton Lodge on Saturday evening for a large company, which included prominent members of the Virginia State Bar Association, who were in session here. Mr. French entertained at a tea on Friday afternoon on the broad piazzas of his beautiful mountain home for the members of the younger set.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cole Scott entertained a dinner company on Friday evening at the Oaklawn villa, in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Scott.

Mrs. J. A. Robertson entertained a dinner company on Monday evening at the Robertson villa in compliment to the Misses Claiborne and Margaret Robertson.

Backboard Luncheon.

William H. Libby entertained one of the largest backboard companies of the season at luncheon at the Oaks on Wednesday afternoon, when the members of the party included Rear Admiral and Mrs. William G. Buehler, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lee Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Todd, Mrs. Benjamin Chey Tillghman, Mrs. William A. Platt, Miss Edey, Miss Caroline Wood, E. H. Symington, Mr. W. Kerngood and William Kerngood.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Buehler entertained at luncheon at the Oaks on Saturday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. McMichael and the Misses Duer.

Norman James entertained a large party at the Farm on Saturday evening, when the company included Captain and Mrs. George T. M. Gibson, Mrs. W. J. Elliott, the Misses Davis, Wilkins, Halle, Gibson, Widmer, Duncan and Stephenson, and Charles Belmont Davis, Chester Norton, John W. Bickerton, Robert Bonner, B. Hughes and Clarence Waddle.

Morgan Gross was a dinner host at Fassifern in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Palmer on Sunday evening.

Colonel and Mrs. James H. Preston entertained a backboard party at luncheon at Fassifern on Saturday afternoon in compliment to Miss Mary J. Smith and Miss Alice Wilks Preston.

Tallyho Parties.

Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Work entertained a tallyho party at luncheon at Fassifern, for guests who visited Flag Rock and the Hot Springs. In the company were Mr. and Mrs. Rodd Todd, Mrs. Charles Neave, Mrs. B. C. Tillghman, Miss Edey, Miss LeMoine, William George Thomson, Alexander Neave and Charles Work.

Lincoln Byre, of Philadelphia, entertained a dinner company at Fassifern Farm yesterday afternoon, when two tallyhos conveyed the guests to the old farmhouse.

One of the smartest affairs of the week was a tallyho party given by Mr. and Mrs. George Cole Scott, when members of the younger set were entertained at a luncheon at the Healing Springs. The party included the Misses Mary Carlisle, Gladys Ingalls, and Able Ingalls Barnard, and C. W. Short, Jr., L. B. Harrison, C. J. Schmupp, and Benjamin Chey Tillghman, Jr.

Mrs. Carlisle entertained a tea company on the Casino lawn during the concert hour on Tuesday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. B. C. Tillghman. Mrs. Nicholas Longworth entertained a bridge company informally at tea at the Casino on Monday afternoon.

Others who have entertained tea and bridge parties at the Casino during the week are: The Admiral of the Navy and Mrs. George Dewey, Messad Thomas N. Carter, George Cole Scott, Albert Rivington Edey, Arthur Biddle, William James, George Mason Chichester, Richard C. Kerens, Harry J. Luce, Edward Crozer, Robinson Boykin, Alexander Hamilton, Melville B. Ingalls, McCalhoun Woods, George Guntton, and many others.

Lieutenant-Commander Henry Vernon Butler, U. S. N., arrived at the Homestead on Sunday, and will be joined to-morrow by a party of navy friends.

Clendennin J. Ryan, of New York, who arrived at the Homestead on Tuesday, will be joined by Mr. Ryan, the son of Thomas F. Ryan, next week, and will spend the remainder of the summer at the Homestead.

Guests from the "Cur."
Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth are among those who have gone in for the "Cur," which is one of the fashionable diversions at the Springs.

Mrs. Albert Rivington Edey, of New York, who is accompanied by Miss Edey, has joined the colony of prominent New Yorkers at the Homestead.

Colonel and Mrs. John S. Harwood arrived at the Homestead last week for their annual summer visit, and were warmly welcomed by many friends.

Mrs. Harry J. Luce and Miss Margaret P. Luce, of New York, have
